

How do Dimensional Design's SafeSpace products work?

SafeSpace products work by altering the quality of a field (rather than its quantity, or strength). How does this happen?

To explain that, we need to explain a few key concepts. When particles are repatterned, the quality of a field is changed.

That's what William A. Tiller, Ph.D., professor emeritus of Materials Science and Engineering at Stanford University discovered.

According to Dr. Tiller's research, unpolarized particles - photons and electrons from EMFs - have a chaotic and disordering effect on our cells as they pass through our bodies, resulting in tissue damage over time. He observed, however, that when those particles are repatterned to be ordered and polarized rather than chaotic and unpolarized, they are no longer harmful.

This is called the coherent polarizing field effect.

Simply put, when the charged particles in an EMF are repatterned, the entire EMF field is repatterned and the ill effects are neutralized without having to weaken or eliminate the field itself.

Subtle energies

Subtle energies are 'super-physical energies' that is, energies beyond our five physical senses. Subatomic and electromagnetic energy are well-known examples of subtle energies.

Subtle energy is considered a part of our physical world, but it is a subtler dimension than our world of solids, liquids and gases. Much of Tiller's work centered around subtle energies.

Energy fields interact and affect each other

Physics shows us that all things are energy, and that the universe is like a gradation of vibrations, or energies, from finer, higher-frequency energies to denser energies.

Just as an EMF can influence the physical human body, certain subtle energies can influence certain EMFs. Specifically, a subtle energy that is coherent and senior to a specific EMF can influence it.

The most senior subtle energy

Theories in advanced physics postulate a subtle energy senior to all other energies. In the Quantum view, this 'Unmanifest Energy' is a fluid mutable field of 'information', which is constantly exchanging and redistributing energy. This energy is the most senior subtle energy of all, with the ability to pervade and affect all other levels of energy.

Coherent and senior subtle energies can influence EMFs via the EMF's own carrier waves.

The fact is, all EMFs are essentially carrier waves that carry information, which is precisely why they are so useful in communication. Imagine the way a radio broadcast disseminates information in all directions from a single point. Introducing a senior subtle energy onto an EMF's carrier wave will broadcast that energy's information throughout the field.

SafeSpace Products are encoded with a range of subtle energy patterns, ready to be picked up by EMF carrier waves.

When the coherent pattern of a senior subtle energy is placed on a carrier wave, the coherent pattern is what will be spread, overriding the toxic effect and creating a benign effect. This creates that coherent polarizing field effect discovered by Dr. Tiller. Thanks to carrier waves, when the charged particles are repatterned, the entire EMF field is repatterned.

Result: the ill effects are neutralized without having to eliminate the field itself.

Through this repatterning, process, SafeSpace products add qualitative energy balancing patterns to electromagnetic carrier waves, alongside whatever other information they're carrying.

At the heart of the SafeSpace technology is the concept of information storage.

SafeSpace products store information—in the form of subtle energy patterns—in a variety of "carrier" materials, primarily holograms. The stored information on the products stands ready for dissemination onto the carrier waves of harmful EMFs.

But how does this information, these subtle energy patterns, actually get onto the SafeSpace carrier material? To understand the process, it is helpful to look at other information storage devices around your home, such as magnetic tape, or music CDs.

Storing and transferring information: the example of music CDs.

Music, in the form of information, is transferred onto the surface of a CD by means of a laser, which, as we know, is a form of light. Lasers are considered "coherent light" because all the particles or waves are aligned and moving in the same coherent pattern. When those coherent light waves come into contact with the surface of a blank CD, the information is deposited onto it, ready to be transferred off by means of other waves—such as the lasers inside a CD player, which read and transform the information on the CD into coherent sound waves.

Proprietary encoding process

SafeSpace products are encoded with the polarizing pattern of very senior subtle energies. During this proprietary process, the surface of the carrier material is brought into contact with the benign, polarizing and healing pattern of a highly senior subtle energy, and the carrier material is structurally modified on a sub-atomic or subtle level.

Once Dimensional Design's SafeSpace product is encoded or programmed, it can radiate this coherent energy pattern, which has a variety of positive effects, depending on the specific use.

Dimensional Design's SafeSpace products set up a "corrective resonance"

The SafeSpace products set up a corrective resonance, thereby restoring coherence and balance.

SafeSpace products are passive devices utilizing no electronic circuitry, so they never wear out, or need to be cleaned or recharged. And unlike energy devices that absorb and retain the "energetic signatures" of fields they encounter, SafeSpace products literally repattern those fields, rendering them harmless.

Dimensional Design's SafeSpace products: Proven through quantitative & qualitative testing

Quantitative testing: The effectiveness of SafeSpace products can be shown through a number of conventional tests on end users, such as measuring changes in DNA.

Qualitative testing: To test our impact on the field itself, we also utilize qualitative testing methods capable of detecting changes on higher subtle energy planes—changes that traditional scientific instrumentation, with its focus on gross electromagnetic quantity, cannot pick up.

Measuring the biological effect of SafeSpace products with quantitative testing.

Independent clinical and laboratory testing using DNA Testing, Heart Rate Variability and Bioresonance Testing have shown the effectiveness of the SafeSpace products on the human body.

Independent clinical and laboratory DNA Testing

For nearly half a century, scientists have known that exposure to heat causes DNA to unwind; as it cools, it recovers and rewinds. EMFs from cell phones have been shown not only to impair DNA's ability to rewind, but to actually cause DNA to unwind further. DNA deterioration and mutation, of course, has been connected to numerous cancers.

Quantum Biology Labs: testing results on the SafeSpace Cell patch

Quantum Biology Labs, an independent facility with an outstanding national reputation, tested the SafeSpace Cell Phone Patch on actual human DNA. Prolonged use of an unprotected phone, as expected, resulted in DNA deterioration. But when the SafeSpace patch was attached to the phone, this harmful effect was completely neutralized. In fact, DNA rewinding was enhanced.

Kinesiology

Kinesiology, which is the study of the body movement and muscle response, effectively indicates where blocks and imbalances are impairing physical, emotional or energetic wellbeing. There are many factors in the environment which can interfere with the flow of vital force through our electrical bodies, consequently causing weakness on a muscle test.

The testing of the relative energy available to muscles -- which is also associated with the energy flow through the body (meridians) -- allows the kinesiologist to assess a subject's energy level and determine ways to promote healthy flow. Kinesiological testing has shown that stress, emotional blockages and toxins can detrimentally affect the glands and organs, as well as other systems.

Kinesiological testing of the SafeSpace products has repeatedly shown that the energy flow to the muscles strengthened dramatically. Testing has also dramatically demonstrated these products balancing and strengthening effect on the glands and other systems of the body-mind.
